Suffering Armenia

Armenia and Christianity

—First Methodist, Kingsburg.

In keeping with the Armenian-Syrian relief proclamation, which was made Saturday and yesterday for the relief of the stricken inhabitants of those countries, Y. K. Rushdony, himself but recently a refugee from Armenia, and now in charge of the Armenian Presbyterian church of Kingsburg, addressed the congregation of the First Methodist church of Kingsburg yesterday morning on the suffering of his native land. His speech was in part as follows:

"Rejoice with them that rejoice and weep with them that weep." Rom. 12:15. This is the true spirit of Christianity. When it has become the dominant spirit of civilization, many, if not all, of the present social and international injustices and troubles will be vanished away.

But the sad fact is that today many become glad and weep with others are glad. Such unhappy state of affairs has been brought forth by many causes that have been in operation for a long, long time. But still these causes could have been greatly counteracted had (1) the Christian churches not been too individualistic, and (2) the educational plan of each country had not been too narrowly nationalistic.

Often it has been said that as the discovery of America opened a new era in the world's history, so the present rapid development of the United States will open another far more glorious epoch in the world's history in emancipating civilization from its brutal fetters. It seems it was partly in accordance with this plan that the President of this great country set apart two days for praying and thinking about sorely afflicted Armenians and Syrians and trying to save their unhappy ruin.

Christianity was introduced into Armenia in the first century, because in the second century we find already established Christian churches in the country. Tradition says that the apostle was carried into Armenia by St. Thaddeus, a disciple of Christ. Christianity found a good soil in Armenia. The churches rapidly grew, and in the fourth century Christianity became the state religion of Armenia and in the fifth century the Armenians had their own church, the Armenian Apostolic church. At this time Armenians stood up not only for the churches in Armenia, but for those that were established in Caucasia, Persia, India, and elsewhere.

But Armenia had a very unfortunate geographical situation. Being used as a buffer state between Persians and Romans, she had been a field for their political and military battles, and, finally, in the fifth century, like the present Persia, was divided into two zones of influence. As Armenians were Christians, Persia's government determined to wipe out Christianity from Persia. Armenia, in order to secure her untroubled control over that country, but the Armenians made it very plain to the Persian government that they were ready to forego everything but the Christian religion, which they held to be the principle in heaven and on earth to separate them. At this time Armenians stood up not only for the churches in Armenia, but for those that were established in Caucasia, Persia, India, and elsewhere.

The Armenians were not free from the corrupting influence of the middle ages. But there arose a reformation movement in the church in the seventh century, which reached its climax in the twelfth and thirteenth centuries. This movement was called "Tatnax" movement. The Mongolian invasion and internal persecution drove the reformers towards the west. Their doctrine, though, by way of commerce, reached Europe, found many adherents among the Italian and Spanish living between France and Spain, and who were exterminated as heretics by the medieval church. They died, but not their doctrine, which finally brought forth the reformation of the sixteenth century.

Armenians lost their political independence at the end of the fourteenth century. Since then they have been subject to the Ottoman rule, giving, at the same time, architects, financiers, and even diplomats to the empire, and, through agriculture and commerce, contributed to the empire's economical development. Although subject and sorely oppressed, the Armenians are much further advanced than the Turks.

As to the Syrians, I think many Christians know the noble story that they have played in Christianizing the world. It was mainly through their efforts that Asia-Miner, Syria and Mesopotamia was won over to Christianity. It was the Syrian church that gave a great impulse to the famous church of Antioch, which church carried the Gospel into the interior of Asia as far as Manchuria. But under the oppressive rule of the Mongol-Turks this peaceful, civilizing people is almost now breaking up. The Armenians, their last, the two old Christian peoples, Syrians and Armenians, that have, through their tenacious, self-sacrificing spirit, been the bulwark of human right and the Christian church have been ruthlessly wiped out of the native places, and the remnants have been driven into the Mesopotamian wilderness, there to die with unspeakable agony and suffering. I, as an eye-witness, one of the sufferers, can hardly realize what I have seen and experienced.

Turkey has been territorially one of the greatest countries. Her present Asiatic territory is three and a half times larger than Germany and six times larger than the United Kingdom. But this extensive country, in spite of her advantageous position, resources, territory, industry and capable subjects, has been one of the poorest and most savage countries, having no history but of shuddering massacres, ruin and plunder, contributing nothing to the happiness, peace, amelioration and progress of the world, but being a real curse to mankind. Europe purposely shut up her eyes and tried always to exploit the misery of the unhappy subjects by exacting concessions after concessions, leaving the victims to die of starvation and the Turks to bleed to death.

Now this country is trying to save what Europe deliberately risked. By saving the Syrian and Armenian remnants, this country is serving the very cause of civilization. To my mind, it is love and justice.

Armenia, the Downtrodden

—Armenian Apostolic Trinity.

The calamities brought upon helpless Armenia formed the text of a sermon delivered by Most Rev. P. Guleserian, Bishop of Van, Armenia, and a recent refugee from Armenia, at the Armenian Apostolic Trinity church yesterday morning. The bishop pointed out the great sufferings and depredations that the Armenian people are undergoing at the present time, sufferings greater than ever endured by any other nation. The terrible incidents, some of which the bishop had personally witnessed, were briefly touched upon. The speaker told how the Armenian people were expropriated and exiled to distant desert lands, families separated on the way, the able-bodied killed by the thousands, children and the sick left on the wayside to die by the hundreds, women ravished or kidnapped or subjected to indescribable humiliations.

Consolation in Nation's Grief
"Yet," said Bishop Guleserian, "in these days of grief and mourning we have at least the consolation to know that there are people around us who sympathize with us, and will greater encouragement comes to us when we see that the President of this great republic has selected special days for the relief of our people."

The speaker pointed out that 100,000 churches and Sunday schools in this country had set aside the day to express their sympathy for the Christians in Turkey, and particularly the Armenians for their sufferings, and expressed the gratitude of his people for this expression. "Philanthropic people of all classes, men, women and children, are today joining hands in hand to raise funds for the relief of our downtrodden people," said the bishop. "Our sorrow is further assuaged when we see that our small nation has not been forgotten in this world-wide catastrophe."

Armenia Deserves Support
That the Armenian people deserve the support and help of the Christian world was the declaration of the speaker, on account of the stand taken by the people since the beginning of the Christian era, living the life of martyrs for the sake of righteousness. Christianity, justice and humanity. "On this occasion," said Bishop Guleserian, in conclusion, "it is our duty to express our sincere gratitude and heartfelt thanks to President Woodrow Wilson and the people of this great republic and to ask the blessing and mercy of Almighty God upon them."

SPECIAL SERVICES FOR "RELIEF DAY"

Armenia-Syria Fund Is Aided by Fresno Churches

Special services were held in every Fresno church and throughout the country, as well, yesterday in observance of "Armenia-Syria day," designated by proclamation of President Wilson as the day on which all America, through the churches of the land, shall remember the starving women and children in Turkey, Persia, Syria and Palestine, and take such action as they shall deem necessary to alleviate the suffering of the stricken people.

While no report on the collections for the relief fund was available yesterday, the committee not having arranged for a meeting on the Sabbath, it was predicted that the fund of $1500 raised Saturday through the sale of American flags and by donations, would be increased to the $2500 mark. Such generosity was shown by the good people of Fresno on Saturday when our women and children sold flags on the streets and in the business houses and office buildings, that the local committee decided that observance of the second of the relief days should be left entirely to the churches," said Prof. Leon Ardashian, who organized the Fresno committee for the American committee of New York.

"We will meet tomorrow to receive reports from the ministers of the churches throughout the country, and the success of their service to the Fresno committee and a definite report on the collections, ought to be completed by tonight."

Fresno responded so freely to the cry for aid that the committee here will continue to work throughout the week. It is planned to canvass the neighboring communities and to appeal to the individual ranchers up and down the valley.

"A MAN'S MAN" TOPIC Y. M. PARK SPEAKER

Bible Forum Elicits Much Discussion Among Members

"A Man's Man" was the topic of a spirited address delivered to the men in Court House park yesterday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. service by Frank R. Gillett, former Methodist minister. Paul on his way to appear before Caesar at Rome was used as an example of a man with courage not of the earth, with health not of earth, but with courage and truth inspired by God.

Following the address R. C. Avery led the discussion of the Y. M. C. A. forum, talking on the subject, "Is the Church a Failure?" Considerable questioning followed the discussion, some of the hearers desiring information on various Biblical and church topics.

NO UNIONS YET AMONG JAPANESE

Members of Race Here Watch With Interest Action in S. F.

The formation of nine labor unions by Japanese workers of San Francisco and the bay cities is being watched with interest by local Japanese conversant with labor conditions. Although no definite steps have been taken as yet, it is believed that the farm hands of the valley may form some sort of an organization should the unions recently formed around the bay prove a success. Before taking any steps toward the organization of unions locally, Japanese workers of the valley intend to watch the outcome of the Japanese union organizations which were formed yesterday in San Francisco, according to K. Hosaka, secretary of the Japanese Association of Fresno. The Japs that would be affected in this vicinity are nearly all farm hands, Hosaka says. The secretary believes if the Japanese unions are allowed to affiliate with the Federation of Labor, that some good may be accomplished, but declares that the Japanese organizations by themselves would be too weak to accomplish much for the workers.

The efficiency to be gained in handling demands for Japanese labor in different parts of the state by means of an organization of all Japanese farm hands was pointed out by Y. Ikawara, editor of the Japanese-American News. Ikawara said that Japanese laborers were ignorant of the demands for labor in different sections at different seasons, and if under one head could be sent to various sections of the state as need arose.

The Japanese editor said that no plans were afoot at the present time for the organization of a union among the local laborers, but that should the plan prove successful elsewhere the Japanese of this vicinity would undoubtedly form some sort of a labor organization.

Songs and Comedy Make Big Success of Winter Garden Show, "A World of Pleasure"

The New York Winter Garden musical extravaganza, "World of Pleasure," played at a packed house at the White theater last night and made a great hit. The show didn't bring any new popular songs, but this didn't detract in the least from its merit. The songs were among the latest, and all were well received.

The production features scenery and costumes. Of the latter it might well be said that abbreviation distinguished them, and at the same time they could be heard without any difficulty.

The "Courtney Sisters" were the hit of the evening. In fact, they almost broke up the show. After they had responded to four or five encores, the audience clapped.

No more was forthcoming, but the balance of the show was resumed. The attempt of the show management to quell the applause by going on with the production failed, for the house fairly rocked as the songs rolled for a respite.

of the sisters. They again appeared and bowed. This ceremony satisfied. The "Courtney Sisters" returned to their seats and a few moments later when they appeared singing "Pretty Baby."

William Norris, monologist, was particularly good, and especially so in "Seeing the Movies."

At the end of the first act, "The Melting Pot," sung by Franklin Butler and Mary Moore, with the chorus, called forth a patriotic demonstration from the audience. The various nations of the world were pictured marching into the United States, the melting pot. They were then shown as Americans, all wearing the Stars and Stripes, while the orchestra played "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean." As the strains of this song were carried back, the audience clapped until it was concluded.

Conroy and Le Maire, Blackface artists, were also very good; in fact, the whole production was so well balanced that it would be difficult to pick any flaws.

PREDICTS VICTORY FOR AMENDMENT 2

Former Lieut. Gov. Says Dry Measure Will Carry by Big Majority

Former Lieutenant Governor A. J. Wallace addressed a gathering of some 600 people in the First Congregational church of Porterville last night in behalf of the Prohibition amendments. The meeting was arranged by the California Prohibition party and was presided over by Rev. J. B. Carroll of the First Methodist church.

Wallace was introduced by Hugh Gibson, county worker for the Prohibition party.

In opening his lecture Wallace apologized for breaking the Sabbath. He declared that the opponents of the amendments were using every unfair measure to defeat them.

Wallace predicted a victory for the Prohibition party at the polls. While enroute to the meeting, Wallace stopped for a few hours in Fresno and was entertained by W. T. Langlois, superintendent of the federal flying squadron, now at work in this county.

According to Langlois, Wallace said, "I am thoroughly satisfied that Amendment No. 2 is going to carry by a strong majority."

Wallace expressed much pleasure over the report by Langlois that there is a strong majority for the amendments among the vintyardists here, and also endorsed the reply drafted by the Fresno Business Men's Economic League in answer to the argument submitted by James Madison, against the dry measures.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22.—Miss Wally Mann of San Francisco swam across the Golden Gate today making the best time of eight girls who started, and who all finished, in the first contest over this mile-long neck of water carried out with the sanction and under the regulations of the Pacific Athletic Association. After the race it was announced that the contest would be an annual event.

Miss Mann swam from shore to shore a distance of approximately one mile in 32 minutes and 7 seconds, a minute behind the time made recently by "Baby" Wright, another local mermaid. Twelve girls entered today's race and eight started.

REPUBLICAN, Wash., Oct. 22.—Mrs. B. F. Hibbard, wife of the proprietor of a moving picture theater, was burned to death and three buildings were destroyed here late last night in a fire which started in a moving picture theater. The fire was caused by a hot piece of carbon falling into a loose roll of film on the floor. Mrs. Hibbard and her husband were in the film room when the fire started. Hibbard escaped, calling to his wife to follow him but she was trapped by the flames and perished.

Thirty patrons of the theater escaped unhurt.

FORMER FRESNO GIVEN BANQUET

MAN STABBED BY ROBBER; ESCAPES

George Marilla, residing at 710 Oregon avenue, Los Angeles, was fatally stabbed last night by an unknown man who made his escape.

Marilla informed the police that the man tried to rob him and that he was stabbed while defending himself. The stabbing took place at 816 F street.

GAST HEARING SET FOR TRIAL

The second trial of Paul Gast, a traveling salesman accused of assaulting S. W. Johnson, will be held December 9. At the first trial the jury disagreed. Johnson interfered in a dispute between Gast and his wife.

"WET" SPEAKER IN HANFORD TONIGHT

J. B. Osborne, representative of the United California Industries, will speak tonight in Hanford, Tuesday in Clavis, and Wednesday in Dinuba. Osborne is speaking against amendments Nos. 1 and 2.

GAMBLERS ARRESTED

Chief of Police Greening and a squad of officers Saturday midnight raided a room at 125 Tulare street and arrested the following on charges of gambling: H. Uno, A. Phipps, Wah Pat, Ah Pat, Ah Fan and Ah Goo.

"Commercial honesty is a phrase I have no use for," said Jayne, "which a brand of honesty is neither commercial nor honest. Plain, ordinary honesty will do, and we do not need any special brand for the business man. Honesty means confidence in the dealer who is honest, and should be followed not because it pays but because it is right. Dealers must come to see this, and that there is but one standard of honesty for buyer and seller."

Jayne's address preceded the regular sermon by Rev. Christopher Hines on "The Religion of Tolerance." According to Walt Whitman:

A large number of the congregation remained after church to witness the demonstration of methods of testing weights and measures which the county sealer gave, and to inspect a number of the false weights and measures of the most conspicuous was a large liquid container, worth about $20, which on being measured had been found to be a quart short on every gallon.

DRYS WILL PRESENT DR. CHARLES AKED

Former Member of Ford Peace Party Is to Speak Here November 2nd

Two big events are being planned for Fresno by local Prohibitionists as the final rally of the campaign. The first will be the appearance here of Dr. Charles E. Aked, minister of national fame and until recently a member of Henry Ford's peace party. It is planned to have Aked speak here on the night of Thursday, November 2, in the municipal auditorium.

The second feature and the wind up of the campaign is to be a monster parade through the streets of the city by the dry workers on Saturday, November 4. Music and floats are being planned for already and the federation forces are aiming to make this showing one of the largest demonstrations of the entire campaign.

To be a nurse is a noble profession. R. H. Baldwin, a relative of Bishop Potter of New York, will speak for the Prohibition cause here next Wednesday evening at St. Paul's M. E. South building. "I tell an interesting story of experience as while added to the use of alcoholic liquors."

S. B. CATARRH REMEDY

Has Saved Many Lives!

This famous internal California remedy is so easy to use, and so effective, that it is almost impossible to prove that Catarrh, no matter where located, can only be driven from the system through the natural channels of elimination.

Since Catarrh is a diseased condition of the mucous surfaces, the treatment must necessarily be administered through the blood, as the purification of the bodily fluids is the next step toward ridding the system of poisonous Catarrhal germs.

Catarrh Leads to Deadly Ailments

Deafness, Dizziness, Aching limbs, Consumption and Bright's Disease, all result from neglected cases of Catarrh in one form or another, so the drug stores.

Is Socialist Candidate for United States Senator From California

Walter Thomas Mills, Socialist candidate for United States senator from California and reputed to be one of the foremost orators on the Pacific Coast, will speak in behalf of his candidacy at the Parlor Lecture Club next Tuesday evening.

The meeting will be held under the auspices of the local Socialists and a large number are expected to attend. No chairman has been selected yet.

During the Socialist administration in Milwaukee, 1908, Mills appointed the delegate from that city to visit New Zealand for the purpose of studying the form of municipal government in vogue there.

Commissioner was formerly professor of economics at the Chicago University and while a member of the faculty there, wrote his well known book on economics, "The Struggle for Existence."

HAWSON—"PARTISAN"

Henry Hawson, Democratic candidate for the assembly in the Fresno district, recommended himself to the non-partisan lobby meeting the other night by criticizing the Progressives (of whom Colby is one) and proclaiming himself a partisan.

The claim will not be disputed, though it might not be so easy to determine which party Hawson is a partisan of. In the legislature Hawson showed his Democratic partisanship by separating himself from the majority of his Democratic colleagues and joining with the most partisan of the Republicans in the law-making body. His most recent political activity was in the leadership of a bi-partisan referendum league. If the Republican and Democratic parties are the real parties in the legislature, then Hawson belongs to both of them—and to the standpoint wing of both.

But of course they aren't. The two state parties, in the legislature, were the Johnson and anti-Johnson parties, and the two parties in this district, for legislative purposes, are still the same. And, on these parties, Hawson is indeed, so he proclaims himself a "partisan"—not of the Democratic, but of the anti-Johnson party.

This is the issue in the district—John Fairweather running openly on the endorsement of Johnson and the Johnson policies, and Henry Hawson running covertly on the issue, and on his record of opposition to Johnson and his characteristic policies.

This is the issue which the voters of Fresno city have to decide—except that they have already decided it, three to one, on the direct Johnson vote. If they wish this district to be represented, not misrepresented, they will elect to the legislature the candidate who will vote in Sacramento the way they vote at home. John Fairweather will do that. Henry Hawson didn't before, and says he won't again.

Does this pro-Johnson district wish to re-elect the leader of the anti-Johnson forces in the legislature? Does this district, which is mostly non-partisan, wish to elect a candidate whose paramount issue is his proclaimed partisanship? Does this district, which is strongly Progressive-Republican, wish to elect a candidate on his express platform of repudiation of both Progressivism and Republicanism? Not if it wishes itself represented.

JUST A PLAIN LIE

"The new Republican State Central Committee, named by the candidates at the Sacramento convention, is lending support to the opponents of the regular Republican nominees for Congress in five of the eleven Congress districts."—Los Angeles Times.

This, in plain language, is just a plain lie, written by the only newspaper man in California who takes pride in being a hired liar, and printed in the only newspaper in California which will hire men to lie as boldly as this. Incidentally, it is printed in a Republican newspaper which is itself, in the very same column, openly "lending support to the opponent of the regular Republican nominee for Congress" by bolting the regular Republican nominee for United States Senator—and doing this in the name of regular Republican partisanship. Which also only further illustrates that partisanship is a standard to which the partisans hold the unpartisans, but never themselves.

MEANS REVOLUTION

The warning of the state tax commission against proposition 5, the single tax, or land tax amendment, would seem to be superfluous, as would all newspaper and other argument on the subject, if it were not known that there is at least an earnest minority of the people seriously in favor of the proposition. If anything ever deserved unanimous defeat, it is this measure—but it will not be unanimous.

It should be unanimous, not because the single tax is undoubtedly wrong, but because even those who agree therewithly with the principle of it ought to oppose this time and method of getting it.

This measure provides that on January 1, 1917—two months and one week from today—all property value in land shall instantly disappear; all mortgage securities shall become worthless; all persons using land shall become renters from the state; all licenses, corporation taxes, personal property taxes, and all other fees and revenues shall be abolished, and California shall institute a social and economic revolution over night which will place it alone among the commonwealths of the world.

Most people, we may fairly assume, do not regard this social revolution as desirable. They believe that land ought to remain property, and that the abuse of excessive holdings, or of speculative holding out of use, ought to be met by other methods than the confiscation of all land. But even that minority which believes that land ought to be property, and should be no more subject to ownership than the air or the ocean, and which believes that the social revolution which such a system would produce is desirable, would scarcely desire to bring about this revolution in so crude, so sudden and so unprepared a way. There are, for instance, more Socialists than single taxers. But it is doubtful if a proposal to precipitate complete state socialism on California next week could get one vote in a hundred of the Socialist party itself. A similar attempt with the single tax should be defeated by the votes of the single taxers themselves.

This is a proposal not to change the tax system, but to revolutionize the whole institution of property and the whole relations of industry, in California alone, two months and one week from today.

Who cares to risk it?

Forty Years Ago Today
Rev. H. B. Avery will preach at the residence of Judge Bailey tomorrow at 11 o'clock.

A meeting was held at the Democratic club room to consider the so-called San Francisco blacklist. About thirty-five persons were present—all Democrats but one or two. Several speeches were made. A willingness was expressed to issue a statement of electioneering and a committee was appointed to draft resolutions expressive of the sentiments of the Fresno Democratic club, regarding the "unparalleled outrage" which requires a man to prove his citizenship before he can vote. Messrs. Dixon, Creed and McElwain constitute the committee which was given full power to act in the matter.

Twenty Years Ago Today
Walter Pickett is here from Lillie.

Rev. Anna Shaw passed through Fresno yesterday on her way north. She considered the outlook for woman suffrage in California encouraging.

T. W. Pickett in the second district, A. E. Smith in the third, and J. J. Miley in the fifth, are the Republican candidates for supervisor this year.

The movement in Kings county to secure a portion of Fresno county by annexation first becomes public.

Last Saturday night the power house bridge situated twenty-five miles above the city of Fresno was blown from its foundations by a gale and deposited in the river.

Bishop James Atkins, D. D., will preach at St. Paul's M. E. church.

W. H. Williams, recently arrested for demanding $2,000 as a bribe, is John R. Green, who served five years for victimizing a San Joaquin farmer out of $5,000 and has other criminal records.

THINK THEY WED THE WRONG MAN

Many a woman hugs to her heart the decision that she married the wrong man. In the inner circle of her bosom friends she may admit as much—in the street she would deny it. And her tale of woe in corroboration is spun into sympathetic ears.

In every such rehearsal of domestic infidelity the most disconsolate part is the "might have been," which have been de-nominated the saddest of all words. Lost opportunities in retrospect. Both blood and the judge might have been disillusioned had she devoted the latter part of her life to raking him instead of raking him.

To make a Jeremiah of this kind is impressive it is only necessary to mention some of the men who are prominent who were driven to despair by a "positive refusal" and who perverted went ahead on the highway of success, each with a life companion referred to with scornful reproach as a "spiteful busy" not half good enough for him. As a matter of fact, success in such a man may be due to the complete association of a girl helpmeet that never could have been attained with a discontented, scolding and fault-finding companion.

This is a reversible hypothesis, for many a man harbors the hallucination that he made a mistake in his choice; and some of them are prominent enough to add to the burden of an aching heart by saying so to disappointed and neglected housewives who share more of sorrow than of happiness.

Women who lament that other wives have the best husbands and men who deceive themselves with the belief that other men have the most attractive wives cannot judge with precision. Observation invariably is under most favorable circumstances that tend to warp superficial judgment.

What an amazing awakening there would be if the discontented could exchange places for a time—an awakening that would give each the most attractive and JIM in years for Jack again, and settle forever the doubts that disturb connubial contentment.

Three happy are they who bear and forbear and frown upon mixings that wreck so many lives.

THE COOK AND THE COP.

The old age pension officer was questioning an old woman with a zeal worthy of a noble cause.

"And now," he said, "we have come to two important questions: Have you ever been in love with a man?"

"Never," answered the old lady.

The officer turned to the last question on the list.

"Tell me," he said, "have you ever been in the hands of the police?"

"Silly old biddy," he said, "tell the truth."

"Well," she whispered at last, "I don't see as it's any business of the government, but in my young days I was a cook, and you know, girls will be girls; but I wasn't—practically—a waitress."

WE OUGHT TO HAVE OUR EGGS IN TWO BASKETS.

GOOD ROADS DECREASE PUBLIC AS WELL AS PRIVATE EXPENSE

Editor Republican:—During the last several days you have carried several communications dealing with the matter of the Good Roads Bonds which were before the people for decision on October 24. The writer will not enter into any discussion of the personal statements made, as the standing of the men involved is such that any reply would be entirely unnecessary. Their reputation for probity and intelligence is too well known to merit any question.

Mr. J. E. Dickinson has furnished certain statistics relating to road maintenance in San Joaquin County, and in Los Angeles County which he is using as an argument. The San Joaquin County and Los Angeles County Road and Highway Commissions, of course, are not included in our plan and which the writer would oppose for use in Fresno County as does Mr. Dickinson. The figures therefore do not apply to this discussion. However, because of the friendly feeling of the writer towards Mr. Dickinson he will inform him that much of the expense attached to the maintenance of San Joaquin County is due to the widening of eight and ten foot roads as originally constructed to widths in keeping with the Fresno County plan. Also that Los Angeles County last year constructed twenty-seven miles of concrete base roads, which are no doubt included in the figures quoted as it is customary to charge such against the road maintenance fund.

The figures given for the maintenance of dirt roads in Los Angeles are in line with the ideas of the writer, that the money expended for our dirt roads is carefully done and the only way to reduce our costs is by constructing a more durable type of road. The cost of maintenance of dirt roads is constantly and rapidly increasing.

The writer does not believe in going so far as to figure on a basis of a thorough examination of the conditions is possible so that the figures are not applied to the writer. Let us instead take the condition of Fresno County following the construction of the state highway only twenty-six miles in length. A great proportion of the traffic of the county immediately availed itself of the better road and in the two years following that construction instead of the maintenance costs of the county increasing at the rate of $12,000 per year there was an actual decrease and the tax rate of the county was reduced from an average of $1.57 per $100 assessed valuation to $1.54 in 1913 and $1.50 in 1914. After that year the public utilities paid taxes to the state only, so there was necessitated and increased. When Los Angeles County undertook the construction of their highway system their tax rate was $2.30 per $100. It was last year $1.25 per $100. These figures need no comment. Mr. Dickinson's comments on the estimates of cost are the result of inexperience of such matters. There are a number of jobs of this character under way now and the prices conform to our estimates. If he can save any money for us on the mountain work he can undoubtedly have the opportunity.

WILL CHINA OWN JAPAN?

Japan, Instead of Dominating China, Which in the Past Has Absorbed All Foreign Invaders, Will Herself Be Overborne

By Wharton Barker

Author of "The Great Issues," Called to China by Li Hung Chang, the Prime Minister, to Advise Upon China's Financial Transportation and Industrial Problems; for Years Financial Agent in the United States of the Russian Government

(Copyright, 1916, by The National Editorial Service, Inc.)

The change of ministry in Japan is only a small portion of the situation in the Far East. China cannot be broken up by Japanese or other aggressions. Russia, Great Britain, France, the United States and the smaller European countries must be in accord with the Chinese determination to maintain territorial and political independence, because all recognize that China must be the dominant power in the Far East, no matter what temporary assaults may, for a time, justify another belief.

All who have studied the Chinese awakening know that it is impossible for the Japanese. Although of the same stock, to secure any permanent dominant position in China, for they know that the Chinese, in the future as they have in the past, will absorb all foreign invaders. If the Japanese do not know it now, they will learn it soon.

The natural resources of China, mineral and agricultural, are so enormous that China, in the long run, can have no need of imported raw materials or manufactured articles. If the Chinese, for several thousand years past, have been the best handicraftsmen of the world, can anyone believe that with the tools of modern Europe and America, which they are sure to use, they will not be able to live within themselves, if they so elect, ensuring the integrity of China, physical, mental and moral?

Editor Republican: It was my purpose not to say anything more in this bond question, but as some one has urged us to vote for the bonds and the progressive like Southern California and advertise our county right, I thought it perfectly proper that the voters should know something of what it costs to be like that county.

The following figures are copied from a communication from the Road Department of Los Angeles county, showing the expenditures on the roads of that county for the fiscal year of 1915-1916:

Administration, $74,129.52; general engineering, $40,540.85; highway construction (paving), $505,308.27; highway maintenance, $437,262.32; dirt road construction, $10,255.06; dirt road maintenance, $792,882.95; bridge construction, $222,954.11; bridge repairs, $32,476.63; equipment (purchased), $54,320.87; equipment maintenance, $15,359.85; improvements, $12,500.00. Total, $2,278,634.44.

Fresno county spent during the same period, 1915-1916:

Labor hire and warrants paid, $282,469.23; general fund warrants paid, $102,787.36; general warrants paid, $12,409.67; bridges, culverts, $42,431.42. Total, $430,107.68.

The total mileage worked in Fresno county during that time was 2832 1-2, and the total number of miles of road in Fresno county is about 4000.

The total mileage of unpaved road in Los Angeles county is in round figures 3400.

The report states that they have under maintenance approximately 400 miles of paved road. Both of these reports are authentic and not guess work.

So all the voters in Fresno county who want to be progressive like Southern California, can have some idea of what they will have to pay for it if they vote for the $3,500,000 bonds for a starter.

J. E. DICKINSON.

OPPOSES BONDS; PRESENT ROADS GOOD ENOUGH

Editor Republican: I have begun to wonder if our people are going to swallow these flowery arguments that have been appearing in our daily newspapers. In the first place have you figured that instead of paying $3,500,000 for your roads you will have nearly $5,000,000 worth of bonds interest are paid. If the arguments in the paper are correct, there is no assurance that these roads can be built for what they say they can, or that the bonds can be sold at par. We often find the engineers' estimate falls short and the amount of road may fall far short of what they plan they could build.

As to the saving of $200,000 on our road work yearly, I would like to ask how they can do so, when the engineer himself admits the cost of $50 to $60 per mile a mile in the average cost of our roads now, we cannot save how one cent can be saved from the yearly expense. Again, they say 30 per cent of the hauling will be on the paved roads and an immense amount saved. I would like to ask our farmer friends how many of them will find any saving time in hauling from their home to the small towns where their produce is delivered. I do not believe 10 per cent of them will find it so.

Let us see about this 13 cent rate we see every day printed in such glowing colors. From their own figures, after three years of hauling, we will be out of the $100, I figure we will be out and gray before this unlikely 13 appears on our tax statements.

We of the present generation are interested in transportation and industrial development that they will not be for several thousand years, is slow but sure—and always China for the Chinese. In the past she has relied upon her great bulk for the integrity of her people and her territory; she can surely rely upon it in the future, the Chinese will maintain a democratic republic and will so use public credit

NEIGHBORLY ADVICE

Freely Given By a Fresno Citizen

When one has suffered tortures from a back ache and found relief from the aches and pains, that person's advice is of untold value to friends and neighbors. The following neighborly advice comes from a Fresno resident:

Mrs. C. F. Beck, 176 Thea street, Fresno, says: "A cold, which settled in my kidneys, brought on an attack of lame back. My back pained me constantly and kept me in misery. I had nervous spells, was troubled with pains in the back of my head and had dizzy spells. I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and bought two boxes. They greatly relieved me."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Beck had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Good Roads Election Tomorrow Make It Unanimous!

Go to the Polls Tomorrow and Vote "Yes." Make It Unanimous. This Is Fresno County's Big Opportunity.

Wylie M. Giffen

—and— Good Roads

Mr. H. E. Vogel, Chairman
County Highway Commission,
Fresno, California.

Dear Mr. Vogel:

I take pleasure in writing you this letter in behalf of the Highway Bonds to be voted on next Tuesday. I am in favor of the Bonds for two reasons: In the first place I think there are but few investments that we can make that we are as sure to get our money back. Of course, our taxes will be higher, but in return for this, and immediately, our hauling expenses are less, as two horses can haul what four horses can haul over an oiled road. People driving can, with one horse, drive with as much comfort as they can with two under the present conditions.

Those of us who own automobiles will effect an immediate saving in our gasoline and repair bills, but to me there is a still more important reason for voting the Highway Bonds, and even if there were no saving effected, I would still favor the Bonds for the same reason that I own an automobile when I do not really need one. Every one of us are entitled to something in life besides the mere necessities and if we are to indulge in luxuries at all, I know of nothing that has brought so much pleasure to the human race as the invention of the automobile, and if this is true, there is but one thing more to make our happiness complete and that is a system of good roads such as the state is building.

I notice in the discussions of this matter that some of the critics complain because our Commission has recommended a five inch base instead of a four inch base, the same as the present highway. At first I was inclined to agree with the critics in this particular, but a short time ago I had a talk with the Chairman of the Board of Supervisors of Los Angeles County, and he told me that their experience had proven to them that a five inch base was correct. There is no place in the whole State that has been so successful in the building of good roads as Los Angeles County and we cannot afford to regard lightly their experience.

In regard to the expense of upkeep, I am sure that the figure of $50 or $400 per mile, as mentioned in some of the discussions, applies to the old style of roads, such as built in the Sacramento and San Joaquin counties, and not to the concrete base, as if my recollection serves me right, Mr. Pridham, who is Chairman of the Board of Supervisors of Los Angeles County, told me that the upkeep of the concrete base roads cost them $50 or $60 per mile per year.

In the discussion of this matter, most of the people who are against the bonds, seem to be so because of the fact that the road does not go exactly where they feel it should, which probably means that it does not go exactly past their front door. I also am disappointed in this as I had hoped that these roads would be built directly past every one of my ranches, but my infirmity with the Commission was so small that they have missed them all. However, I have the faith to believe that this is only the beginning of the construction of good roads in this county and that we will, after this bond money is spent, build by direct tax, at least, 25 or 30 miles of road a year, which will within ten or fifteen years give us a very complete system of roads, and many of us who now are off a mile or two will be directly on the road at that time, and though I would like it much better if the road ran directly by my place, I am still in favor of the road bonds, and believe that every one of us should look at this matter in a broad way, as it would be impossible at this time to build these roads past every man's doorstep.

Yours very truly,

WYLIE M. GIFFEN.

Tomorrow the voters of Fresno County will cast their votes on the most important issue that has ever been brought before the people of this community.

You are asked to decide whether Fresno County shall issue bonds for the building of a permanent highway system, or whether Fresno County shall be content to continue with the present system of roads.

Every effort has been made by reliable citizens to give extensive publicity to this issue, so that every voter may become thoroughly familiar with every detail.

It is now up to the voters!

It has been proven time and time again that a good roads system means the saving of huge sums of money every year, that good roads mean the bettering of our social and educational conditions, that good roads mean a tremendous increase in values, and that the investment is safe, sound and remunerative.

It has been proven that the cost to each taxpayer will average only 13c on each $100, just $1.30 on every thousand.

Every phase of the question has been discussed, every argument answered, and the result is unanimously in favor of good roads.

No one believes that Fresno County will refuse to approve of a bond issue for the building of good roads, but it is the duty of every voter to get out and vote, and to get his neighbor to do likewise.

The bigger the vote the bigger the premium for our bonds, and in addition Fresno County wants to tell the world that it is for good roads unanimously, that it stands for progress first, last and all the time.

VOTERS TO DECIDE TOMORROW ON GOOD ROADS BOND ISSUE

Polls Will Be Open Tomorrow Morning at 6 o'Clock and Close at 7 o'Clock; Last Campaign for Bond Issue Today; Want Voters to Come Out

The proposition to bond Fresno county for $3,000,000 to construct a permanent highway system throughout the county will be settled by the voters tomorrow at a special election. The polls throughout the county will open at 6 o'clock and will close at 7 o'clock. A two-thirds majority of the voters is necessary to carry the election.

With all of the civic organizations endorsing the good roads bond issue, a strong effort will be made today, the last of the campaign, to induce voters to cast their ballots in favor of the bond issue tomorrow.

The advisory committee, besides the advisory committee, will be at work to see that the voters are taken to the polls. J. H. Patterson, secretary of the Merchants Association, is chairman of the committee named to see that the voters reach the polls tomorrow. Headquarters for the campaign are established in the Cooper's office on the ground floor of the Hotel Fresno building, and any Fresno having a machine to donate for use during the election is requested to telephone number 108. In order to remind Fresnoans of the bond election, the siren of the Pacific Coast Siren Company will be blown each hour. This whistle is to remind business men to vote and to give their employees time to go to the polls.

The members of the advisory committee in their respective cities will act as the chairman of the committee to see that a large vote is cast and in favor of the bond issue. Sacramento county was the last county in California to vote for good roads and the election was carried by four to one. The advocates of good roads here predict that the majority will be much larger in this county.

John A. Neu, president of the Fresno County Chamber of Commerce, and one of the highway commissioners, said last night that he thought the county would vote for good roads by a majority of seven or ten to one.

"I spent the day in scouting around," said Neu, "and on every side I heard good roads. The people want them, and I think that we will carry the election here by a big majority. Our meetings as well as our advertising campaign are having the desired result. People are thinking and are thinking strongly in favor of the good roads."

446 Miles of Good Roads

Under the bond issue it is the plan to construct 446 miles of good roads. Two hundred and twenty-nine miles will be of concrete base; 123 miles of crushed rock and gravel and 93 miles of mountain roads. The bond issue also includes the appropriation for the construction of bridges over the canals. Under the plan as submitted to the supervisors the county towns will be joined with one another, as well as the county seat, Mountain View, will also be connected to Huntington Lake, as well as General Grant National Park.

W. S. Farley, highway engineer for the commission, will explain the good roads plan at a meeting of the Rotary Club this noon at the Hotel Fresno. A general meeting will be held tonight in Selma.

ANTI-PROHIBITION MEETING CALLED NOVEMBER 3

Effect Upon Grape Industry to Be Discussed by Wet Partisans

James Madison Is to Be
Principal Speaker;
Stoll Here

Under the auspices of the California Grape Protective Association, a meeting will be held on the night of November 3, at the Fresno auditorium at which time both prohibition amendments will be fully discussed and their relation to the grape and wine industry explained. James Madison, vice president and manager of the California Associated Raisin Company, will be principal speaker. Other speakers will be announced at a later date. The meeting will be open to the general public and every one is urged to attend. H. E. Stoll, secretary of the California Grape Protective Association, was at the Hotel Fresno yesterday. He met with several of the large wine grape growers of this vicinity and arrangements were completed for the meeting, which will be the only large meeting in the interest of the wine and grape industries.

"We have had most successful meetings throughout southern California," said Stoll last night, "and when the votes are counted the result will be much different than that predicted by the dross."

In connection with the meeting here motion pictures will be shown.

not forget that it takes a two-thirds majority to incur a bonded debt, and that means it takes two votes for to equal one vote against. Every citizen has a civic duty to perform. The issue is important. It is a question whether we advance or stand still as a county, and our people should not fail to express themselves."

The voting places in the precincts in Fresno county will be located about the same as at the election in August.

Worth of Suits to Fresno Merchants and
Here Is How It Happened

Mr. R. H. walked into Henry Dermer's $15 Suit House

"Henry, my factory knows that you use a tremendous volume of merchandise. They are determined to have some of your business and have sent me with special prices for you, which they know are the only means of securing an order from you."

Said Mr. Dermer; "That's all very nice, but can you give me merchandise to equal these samples which represent suits which I am now selling, and some are samples of clothing bought for next Spring?"

Mr. R. H. threw up both hands and said, "Miracles Never Cease," for I could not sell you these suits at rock bottom wholesale prices for less than $16.50.

"It is no wonder that you are getting the business, for people today know values when they see them."
